=====
Iconshow is a program that displays the icons in your folder or drives, in a slide show. Iconshow has a central folder that it displays and load icons from, and it can display icons from any folder. Iconshow can be loaded with icons directly from the central folder, or by selecting a folder. The icons are shown in a slide show, with text on each icon explaining it's type.

Iconshow supports Icon search programs such as Open Icon Editor. It can create a portable version of Iconshow, that can be used in USB/disk drives and in pen drives. Howsoft SlideShow Description: ===== SlideShow is a freeware program that shows icons from your folder, or the central folder you specify. If you double-click on an icon, you will be able to open the program associated with the file type associated with it, such as.ico for icons. SlideShow can be copied to any folder containing icons, and each icon will be displayed on its own slide. Iconshow Portable Description:

What's New in the Iconshow?

The Iconshow application will show your icons from the current folder or from the folder you choose. If you have lots of icons in the same folder, they will be shown on multiple pages. If you double-click on an icon, and you have a program installed (such as Microangelo, an icon editing program) which is associated to files of the type ".ico", then this program will be started and the selected icon opened in it. Like the howsoft SlideShow, the IconShow can be copied to any folder containing icons, and it will display the icons it finds in its own folder. Or if you prefer, you can maintain a single "central" copy and load up any chosen folder of icons for display. Upon running the program, you will be shown the first page of icons available in the program folder.
