Simple functions such as save, open, search, delete, filter, and error are all available, as are less popular icons like a police officer, phone and camera equipment, and several money-related graphics. For a wide variety of applications, this generic icon set will provide the full range of icons needed for the toolbar, covering even the occasional special request or innovative function. Having a complete set of icons available and knowing that the same visual aspect will carry through each piece and make the toolbar look polished and whole, developers can focus on completing their applications. Bright, attractive colors blend with an intelligent use of light and shadow to produce an instantly appealing series, while a professional and refined idea of how to present all of the icons as a group keeps the collection together. From arrows to sheets of paper, shopping baskets to folder illustrations, every element of these basic icons has been created with a masterful talent that will bring quality to your project every time it's used. These Orange Toolbar Icons come in a variety of transparencies and sizes (from 16 x 16 to 64 x 64 pixels), allowing for the perfect functionality and placement in any setting. If you are a novice web developer or a newcomer to HTML, one of the first tasks you will encounter is creating robust and visually compelling text-based web elements that display the desired format on the screen, on any size screen, for any device. With the HTML Text Editor you will be able to instantly create compelling type, such as headers, subtitles and all sorts of other pieces of text, which you can place at different layers and format however you wish, including alignment, font color and size, size of the font and more. Included are various font styles, support for font size and color, as well as a vast range of additional tools and properties to bring your text format to a new level. All the text editing functions are in a separate window, without intrusive footers or other browser elements, so all the space on your screen is available for the type you create. HTML Text Editor with the Word AI allows you to align text in columns or rows, by specifying numbers, decimals or percentages, allowing you to focus on creating eye-catching type, not the tedious number of settings required to achieve this effect. All the text is easily accessible, editable and customizable, allowing you to experiment with using or removing layers of text at any time, without any hassle. The full spectrum of settings you will need for all your text editing needs can be found within the preview window of the editor. By previewing the type in real-time you will have the opportunity to examine the amount of space on the page allocated for the type you are designing, its placement in relation to other elements, and overall page aesthetics. The HTML Text Editor will allow you to eliminate any frills or unnecessary or distracting pieces, while at the same time, providing you with maximum control over the final text format. The full selection of features available in the HTML Text Editor allow you to create fine-tuned type that will add variety to your project. Whether you are creating a corporate design, a business card, an invitation or any other type of text, a clean and precise code that fully displays the type in a unique way will add to the user experience, branding and visual appeal of your project. HTML Text Editor with the Word AI is a font editor of unmatched power, allowing you to effectively create brand new type styles and effortlessly modify existing ones. With this full-featured tool you will be able to fully control the appearance of type on your web page and transform it in to eye-popping headline style or solid b7e8fdf5c8
